Message from DYS Director Harvey Reed
CEAO Teacher of the Year
September 16, 2011

Dear Staff:

This week I attended the Correctional Education Association of Ohio (CEAO) 2011 Teacher of the Year Recognition ceremony. Our teachers are committed to providing quality educational services while balancing the safety and security of our facilities. DYS educators motivate youth to succeed in school and make lasting changes.

I am pleased to announce that Amanda Crist from Indian River High School (Indian River JCF) was recognized as the 2011 CEAO Teacher of the Year. With a Bachelor's Degree in Accounting and Minor in Secondary Education, Ms. Crist has been employed as an Administrative Office Technologies Teacher at DYS for almost 10 years.

Donna Marshalko from the William K. Willis High School (Scioto JCF) was a 2011 CEAO Teacher of the Year Finalist. Ms. Marshalko teaches Administrative Office Technologies and has been with DYS since 2004. Chuck Steinbower, Librarian at the William K. Willis High School, was the recipient of the Beverly Jo Taylor Administrative Award. Mr. Steinbower has been part of the DYS family for 26 years.
